if a devotee needs to be corrected it should be done carefully, and usually privately, with due regard for how we are causing that devotee to feel.